

An isometric illustration of a futuristic medical environment. The scene is dominated by large, glowing digital screens and tablets. One large screen on the left shows a human silhouette with data points and a heart rate line. Another screen in the center displays a heart icon and a pulse line. In the foreground, a tablet shows a stethoscope icon. The background features several stylized figures: a doctor in a white coat, a patient in a wheelchair, and other medical staff. The overall color palette is teal, grey, and white, with a blue horizontal line running across the middle of the image.
