

The image shows the interior of a large-scale scientific experiment, likely a particle detector. The ceiling is covered in a dense grid of small, golden-colored spherical components. A green scissor lift is positioned in the center, and various structural beams and equipment are visible throughout the space. The lighting is dim, highlighting the metallic surfaces and the complex geometry of the facility.

Colabora Tec en proyecto internacional que ya dio 2 Premios Nobel